Dear Nancy,

We are Writers Guild of America, East members who work for Showtime, and we are writing to you to show solidarity with VICE Union as they enter their final bargaining sessions.

We are proud that VICE now airs on Showtime, and believe the series is a great extension of the VICE brand. Throughout the pandemic, and before it, VICE's workers have demonstrated a real commitment to their work and the brands that they have built.

We urge VICE management to quickly reach a fair and equitable collective bargaining agreement with VICE Union that builds on their previous existing contracts, and shows the company's commitment to being a progressive leader in the media industry.

In solidarity,

Eli Attie (BILLIONS)
