WE’RE BACK!

After two years of producing virtual awards shows with the Writers Guild West, we are thrilled to return to the Edison Ballroom and to bring our community back together again for this live celebration!

So, let me formally welcome you to the 75th Annual Writers Guild Awards! Throughout our history, through wars, The Blacklist and other political attacks on the arts and even through a pandemic, writers have continued to write and the Writers Guild has continued to honor their work. We are strong!

The Writers Guild Awards are particularly important because this is the only night during awards season which solely focuses on the work of writers—the true foundation of our industry. Tonight is also the only time of the year when writers from all the genres that the Writers Guild of America, East represents—both entertainment and news—get to congregate together in one place and celebrate each other’s talent and accomplishments.

For those of you who have never joined us here before, the Edison Ballroom’s history is also a long and interesting one. It got its start as a music club in the 1930s, featuring the era’s top Swing bands. Then, in the 1990s it briefly became The Supper Club, hosting everyone from Tony Bennett to David Bowie. In the interim, it was the Edison Theatre, home to many Broadway shows, including the infamous nude review, “Oh! Calcutta!,” which once made my parents very uncomfortable.

I’m thrilled that you’re here to celebrate our event, but as someone who has served on the WGAE’s elected Council, I want to urge you to engage with the Guild in other ways too. I encourage you to become involved with the WGAE’s committees and salons as well as its career training sessions, networking activities and organizing campaigns.

My deepest congratulations to all tonight’s winners and nominees. I’d like to give my heartfelt appreciation to our brilliant host and all our presenters. I’d also like to thank my fellow Executive Producer, Shannon Walker, the show’s Head Writer, Ann Cohen, Producer Caroline Waxler and the rest of our great writing team, as well as our Awards Committee and the tireless WGAE staff, particularly Marsha Seeman, Dana Weissman, Omar Shaukat, Mary Ann Lamonica, Jason Gordon and Molly Beer. Also the crew, all tonight’s volunteers, my eternally patient husband Chris and everyone else involved in making tonight’s show possible.

Have fun and be safe!

In Solidarity,

Bonnie Datt
Chair, WGAE Awards Committee
Tonight is about celebrating the craft of writing and the writers guild members who devote themselves to it.

It’s about the power of narrative to entertain and enlighten, to shape the way we think about life and love and politics and everything else.

The Guild knows how to build power to win the best possible collective bargaining agreements for members who write dramas, comedies, and nonfiction – for broadcast and cable and movie theaters and online. We understand the challenges writers face to build sustainable careers doing the work they love.

We gather on the eve of negotiations for a new Minimum Basic Agreement, the foundation on which TV and movie writers’ compensation and benefits and residuals and credits are built. The challenges we face in these negotiations are real. Digital technology has transformed the way content is commissioned and produced and distributed and paid. It is up to us – staff, elected leaders, activists, and rank-and-file members – to fight for an MBA whose terms ensure that the enormous value writers bring to their work is recognized and rewarded.

Making gains at the bargaining table requires smarts – good research, well-crafted bargaining proposals, solid arguments. But it also requires strength. The source of any union’s power is a membership that is informed and engaged, a membership that understands the issues and is willing to take action together. That reality informs all of the negotiations we do at the WGAE, in scripted and unscripted, in news and podcasts and more. And it is the basis of the work we are doing with our sister union the WGAW to win an MBA we can all be proud of. Here’s to a celebration of writers and writing and here’s to the power of our union and its members.

Circuit Breakers
The climate crisis is a part of all of our stories now—yet that reality is rarely reflected in television and film.

Our mission is to make it easy to portray climate change on-screen in entertaining and artful ways.

We support screenwriters in applying a Climate Lens™ that uncovers how climate change authentically shows up in characters and setting—no matter the topic, tone, story, or genre. The result is rich and relatable content that reflects what it feels like to be alive right now.

- Explore our Playbook for Screenwriting in the Age of Climate Change for story inspiration, cheat sheets, character profiles, solutions, and projections of the future.
- Consult with us to discover the endless ways climate change can enrich characters and story worlds. We offer a variety of services, including research, worldbuilding, writers’ room visits, script reviews, workshops, connections to experts, and more.

We work with writers, studios, networks, and production companies at any stage of a project to provide customized tools and support to best serve your story.
